Q: Mr. LaRouche, as we're talking about terrorism, I was wondering what your thoughts were about the Guatemala agreement recently signed between the government and the Guatemala National Revolutionary Unit.

LYNDON LAROUCHE: Operations in recent years have eliminated all effective resistance to terrorism in Guatemala. As a result of that process of demobilizing the resistance against terrorism, Guatemala signed a pact of submission, in effect, to the terrorists, very much like the partial submission, or almost-near submission to terrorism in Colombia by the present narco-democracy down there, of Samper Pizano.

So, that's a catastrophe, and it must be looked at in no other terms. But it also is an {ominous} catastrophe which is not confined to the problem in Central America, {but is an integral part of the problem which threatens the United States itself. We have to understand that.} This is not something that's happened to somebody else's country. It is something which is prepared to strike here. And, we need to beef up our strategic intelligence against terrorism real fast.
